Artist Statement

My artistic practice centers on the belief that our thoughts have the power to shape our lives while reflecting on contemporary political, social, and satirical views. The way we think and perceive the world affects our actions and the moral standards we hold ourselves to. Since my tenure at Howard University, my art has been a means of raising awareness about public morality. I examine society and the world across space and time through a metaphysical lens. This work also explores how good and evil are inextricably linked using layered symbolism. It acts as a warning to the nation.
